BAY  TEK[®]

Bay Tek began in 1977 by creating rolldown games for traveling carnival trailers. Adding ticket dispensers to these products opened a new world of possibilities, and the arcade market was never the same. Since our inception, Bay Tek has designed, built and shipped countless ticket redemption games for family fun centers around the world, and will continue to do so in our newly-expanded and improved manufacturing facility in the heart of Northeast Wisconsin.

The acquisition of Skee-Ball in 2016 provided a perfect opportunity to start licensing out our powerful brands, allowing us to dip into the app world, the toy market, and even console gaming. To assist on our journey of creating great licensed products for the entertainment industry, Dimensional Branding Group, a San Francisco-based licensing firm, has become a division of Bay Tek. DBG leverages our internal brand equity and seeks out licenses that complement our portfolio of products.

Our team never stops looking for great new ideas in the entertainment industry. GamerGreen, for example, is an app-based redemption model utilizing digital currency. GamerGreen allows its nearly 500,000 users to enjoy games at hundreds of different locations across the country, collect virtual G-Tickets, and redeem them online for great prizes that are shipped directly to their homes.

Our new Bay Tek Entertainment logo places focus on the future while paying homage to the past. It keeps the star metaphor front and center, referencing our lifelong commitment to five-star quality. The star is comprised of two sevens—a tribute to our 1977 origin—which create an arrow, signifying the forward and upward path of our future; a light leading the company through the unknown.
